

What you need to know about home schooling child

What school to choose? Closer to home, prestigious, or specialized, or that which is advised to have more experienced friends? But what if your child cannot attend school for medical reasons? For such children there is training and education at home.

Implemented this training is a comprehensive institution of the place of residence of the student. In order to make the training at home, it is necessary to obtain the opinion of the doctor, who is your child the basic disease, and direction for the WCC to address the question whether learning at home.

Medical fee child may be offered a variety of simple tests. Therefore, try to set your child so that this situation did not surprise him. It is desirable that the child took the test as a game. And for that, very useful will be before the Commission to reiterate a couple of friends poems porazgadyvat puzzle to make your little one feel comfortable and did not feel embarrassed and upset. According to the results of the medical Commission, you will be given a report, which is attached to the birth certificate of the child and other relevant documents, will need to go to the nearest school by place of residence.

The next stage – the choice of the teacher. We all know how important it is, what would be the first Teacher. This largely will depend on all further education of your child. Be sure to consult with the school psychologist. He will tell you, based on the characteristics of your child, the teacher will make it easier to find a common language. The first time, and preferably the entire first or second class, to attend the sessions of the child. Firstly, it will be more comfortable for the child, and secondly, you will constantly be aware of the requirements of the teacher, and can, if necessary, to help the child in preparing homework. Usually, teachers don't mind but rather welcome the initiative of parents.

It is very important to choose the right workplace for training. Of course, the ideal option would be a separate room. But if you have no such possibility, you can arrange a corner near a window so that the light fell on the left. Make sure in advance about a special Desk for a child. To order a Desk in the social service at your place of residence. Why the need for such a Desk? If your child has problems with musculoskeletal disorders, posture, eyesight, or he was just an Amateur "write nose", the usual Desk will never fit him. In a special Desk you can adjust the tilt of the working surface, the height of the seat, if necessary, can be locked back child support.

Another important moment – it is the transition from one teacher to the teachers the subject teachers. In advance prepare the child for new the specifics of teaching, to overcome possible fears, stiffness, shyness. Try to attend the first classes of the child until the child get used to new teachers. Pay attention to the mood of the child after class, ask him about the impressions. If you begin to notice that after classes with someone from the teachers, the child is sad, depressed – try to immediately find out the reason. Unfortunately, sometimes there are situations when the teacher cannot find the approach to the child. In any case, do not ignore it, or leave it as it is. Your child should get a good education, and the school administration should provide all the necessary. Do not hesitate to approach the head teacher or Director, with a request to give you another teacher. If the child did not have any contact with the teacher, don't be afraid to insist – it is your right.

Very often, children with disabilities, in matters of study, encouraging their parents far more than affluent peers. Such children are more thoughtful and thorough, a more serious and inquisitive, but in the end, and more responsible related to their studies.

It is no secret that many parents are starting to worry about the thought that their child should study at home. Of course, certain limitations are present in this. But, this cheapest term paper writing study has many advantages. First, individual approach and quiet working environment, and secondly, a daily check of homework. Well, and thirdly, if your student knows that the famous Russian "Avos" is not covered and will have to answer for each lesson, he inevitably begins to approach the learning process seriously.
